WHILE the eyes of the United States have been turned toward Chicago and all ears open to catch the first intimation of authentic reports, Washington has not only found itself in the same position as the rest of the country but has gone it one better, for many of its citizens decamped bodily to the scene of action and capital society has been almost as widely represented on the shores of Lake Michigan as here.

Senator and Mrs. James Wadsworth, jr., have taken a house there for their stay and have with them the senator's father and mother, former Representative and Mrs. Wadsworth; also the brother-in-law and sister of the hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney, and Mr. and Mrs. William Hitt, the latter a daughter of the late Senator Elkins, all of whom are quite familiar with the wheels within wheels that revolve to make a convention "tick" and with the ramifications of politics in general, having spent many years of their lives in the inner circle of officialdom.

Close to Her Father.
Mrs. Whitney was especially close to her father, the late John Hay, Secretary of State, and was his intimate friend as well as imitator in the literary field. One of her girlhood pastimes was the collecting of all the caricatures published of her father (who, like all men in the public eye, received his share of banter), and she had them framed and hung in a little den to one side of the large entrance hall in the Hay home of Lafayette Square.

Representative and Mrs. Ira Copley are fortunate enough to have their very own home in the suburbs of Chicago, and there, at their estate in Aurora, they have had a large house party, the members of which they carry back and forth from the scene of action, both political and social, by motor cars.

Another interesting house party has been for its hosts Col. Charles Page Bryan, former minister to Portugal, and his brother-in-law and sister, Judge and Mrs. Payne, who have a home at Evanston, just out of Chicago, which they opened some weeks ago in preparation for the coming of their many friends to "the windy city."

The Countess Gyzky, who was Miss Eleanor Patterson, daughter of the late Robert Patterson of Chicago and Mrs. Patterson has leased a house in her home city, the David Adler residence at Rush and Elm streets. Her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Medill McCormick, have with them as their guests Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, while Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rutherford McCormick are entertaining the newly appointed Russian minister to Siam, M. Loris-Melikoff, who for the past two years has been first secretary of the Russian legation in Washington. Col. Roosevelt's nephew, Mr. Monroe Douglas Robinson, and Mrs. Robinson are also guests of Mr. and Mrs. McCormick.

Brazilian Ambassador There.
The Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. de Gama have been guests of Gov. Whitman, and the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston, to show their broad-mindedness, are not only forming a party of cabinet folk who will attend the democratic convention, but are taking in the present republican gathering en route to St. Louis, where they will congregate with their own particular social followers.

Mr. and Mrs. Laz Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter, Representative and Mrs. Gillette and Miss Hoar, Dr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, Mrs. George Rublee, Mrs. Harold Walker, Miss Gladys Hince, Mrs. William Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis, the Misses Fatten and the names of many others whose comings and goings are now being chronicled in the social columns of Chicago's papers instead of in those of the Washington dailies.

Cabinet Families.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Redfield were conspicuous figures in a wedding in the smart set of Brooklyn last evening, for which their daughter, Mrs. Drury, was matron of honor.

The bride, Miss Dorothy Fuller, is the niece of Mrs. Redfield, and daughter of Mr. Charles H. Fuller and Mrs. Fuller of Brooklyn, and the bridegroom is Mr. Harmanus Swan. The wedding was a beautifully arranged affair, and took place in St. Paul's Church, Flatbush, and besides Mrs. Drury, who accompanied her cousin as matron of honor, were the two sisters of the bride, the Misses Fuller, who served as maids. Mr. and Mrs. Redfield will return to Washington tomorrow, and will again leave town at the end of the week, accompanied by Mrs. Drury, to attend the graduation of the son of the house, Mr. Humphrey Fuller Redfield, at Amherst College.

The Secretary and Mrs. Redfield have made no arrangements for the summer, but will probably spend the midseason in motoring from place to place in the New England states.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels left here last evening for the democratic convention in St. Louis, and will be joined there by the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston and the Secretary of War, Mr. Baker, who leaves here tomorrow.

Mrs. Baker will not accompany the Secretary of War to St. Louis, but will remain steadily at their suburban home all summer. She and the Secretary were entertained at dinner on Friday evening, and a number of informal engagements have been made for them for the rest of June.

Mrs. Franklin K. Lane and Miss Nancy Lane will leave Washington on Friday, unless their plans miscarry, for Essex, on Lake Champlain, where they have taken a cottage for the season. Mr. Lane will join them in August, while Mr. Franklin K. Lane goes to the Plattsburg camp.

Engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Smith announce the engagement of their granddaughter, Miss Frances Marion Shaw, and Mr. John P. Frazer of Detroit, Mich.

Miss Shaw is a graduate of National Park Seminary. Her wedding will take place at St. Margaret's Church July 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Boigman of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter Frances and Mr. Thomas Sergeant Perry Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. C. Griffin of this city. Mr. Griffin is a graduate of Western High School and of Harvard, class of 1912. While in college he was on the staff of the Harvard Crimson.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Epstein of Long Island announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Epstein, and Mr. I. Joseph Mazo.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Miller announce the engagement of their daughter Mildred to Mr. Mortimer S. Peyton of Washington and New York. The wedding will take place in the early fall at their suburban home.

Luncheon and Card Party.

Miss Elsie Beck entertained at luncheon and cards yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Eugenia Sinclair Cissel, whose marriage to Mr. James Rowland Durnell, jr., of Colorado will take place next Saturday at Foundry Methodist Church. Among the guests were Mrs. Henry Parsons, Mrs. Harold Miner and Misses Louise Cissel, Lucile Pettus, Mary Steele, Frances Meany, Dorothy Adams, Dorothy Hill and Miss Jesta Warthen of Kensington and Miss Mildred Couch of Washington Grove, Md.
